

A Cry for Justice

Awakening the Evangelical Church to domestic violence and abuse in its midst

cryingoutforjustice.blog

Abuse can be:

- Mental
- Emotional
- Physical
- Spiritual
- Financial
- Sexual
- Social
- Verbal

Any combination of the above.

What is your church's response to abuse?

When you need to leave your abusive situation, does your church tell you to stay?

If so, you are not alone...

Barbara Roberts, author and survivor of domestic abuse, invites you to visit the cryingoutforjustice.blog website and blog.

Here you will find a place that will:

- educate people about the abuser's mentality/tactics
- teach what scripture really says about abuse, marriage, and divorce
- recommend resources for further help
- provide a safe environment for victims of domestic abuse to be encouraged, validated, and believed

Visit cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog

A Cry for Justice
website and blog
cryingoutforjustice.blog